Shraddha Kapoor, Abhishek Bachchan, Zayed Khan, and Malaika Arora play the main leads in the film. Plot Kunwar Ajit Singh (Abhishek Bachchan) and Komal (Shraddha Kapoor) are childhood friends who were once in love with each other. Ajit is a successful corporate lawyer while Komal is a struggling model. While Ajit is married, Komal is in love with him. Ajit's wife Kiran (Malaika Arora) is a magazine editor and is the love of Ajit's life. They have a daughter, played by Manav Vij (Ranvir Shorey). However, Ajit and Komal are in a relationship without Kiran's consent. The affair is a secret one. Ajit's sister-in-law, played by Zarina Wahab (Raveena Tandon), wants her to settle down with Ajit, but Komal rejects Ajit's proposal. A few days later, Ajit and Komal are involved in an accident. Ajit lies about it, and blames Komal. Kiran, initially disliking Komal, believes Ajit's lies. Ajit's friend, played by Reema Kagti, comes to know the truth about the accident and convinces Komal that Ajit had not lied. Ajit is later fired from his job as a lawyer. He, Komal, and Kiran decide to get married and move out of the city. Komal decides to return home, so Ajit goes to her place, but Komal is not there. She calls up her mother, played by Amrisha Puri, and tells her that Ajit does not love her. Ajit leaves home. A few days later, Ajit returns home. He was told by Kiran and her mother that Komal does not want him back. Ajit then calls up Komal's father, played by Shashi Kapoor, and asks her to return home. Komal agrees to return home, only to find out that her father has committed suicide. Ajit tries to talk to Kiran. She tells him that she has married someone else. Ajit, who is now depressed, meets Komal. She reveals that Kiran has told her everything. She also tells him that she never wants to be with him again.
